Between Thanksgiving and Christmas 2023

I hope the season is finding you full of thankfulness and cheer. My winter months are always slow on author events probably because of the seasons, or maybe it's just too cold to be outside. Next year's calendar is growing, and I'll try to let everyone know what's coming up.

Want to write, BUT don't know where to start?

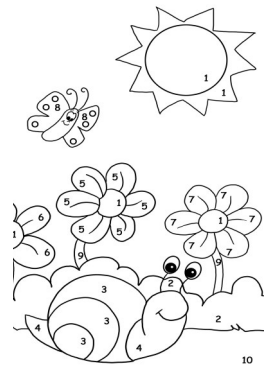

A Children's Writing Conference will be happening on Saturday, January 27. at the NE Texas Community College in Mt Pleasant. The event is sponsored by the Northeast Texas Writers Organization (NETWO). I am one of the speakers along with two accomplished authors (how did I get in that group, LOL). We will be sharing our experiences and knowledge about our writings. Lots of good information. To register, go to www.netwo.org under the Conference tab to find the registration and newsletter.

Trivia—What song, written for Thanksgiving, is a very popular Christmas song?

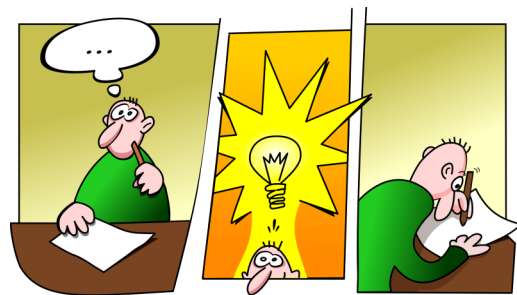

See below.

Shout out to little Joey for a poem about what's going through the snail's mind.

*Happy, happy,
flowers and sun,
Today's the day
to have some fun!*

Ideas come from everywhere. What is your inspiration?

There are writers who are afraid to let anyone read their work. At the end of their life, someone will publish their writings and become a best seller.
